

Thank you for your interest in Xoloitzcuintli Primitive Breed Rescue! Our goal is to re-home as many needy Xoloitzcuintli as possible. Every job done by a volunteer helps put rescued Xoloitzcuintli into Forever Homes where they will be well cared for and loved. Since dog rescue work involves the handling, fostering, and transport of animals, we ask all volunteer applicants for information that would be necessary for XPBR to have should you ever be in a situation where you decide to volunteer for transport one of our rescues, or should you need to handle or temporarily keep one in your home. All information collected on this application will be kept confidential, and is to be used only for the purposes of evaluating your ability to serve in specialized capacities within the organization.

XPBR works with live animals as well as the public; there can be issues related to liability and injury, so our organization takes agreement with and compliance to its policies and procedures very seriously. A copy of both our mission statement and our policies and procedures are included. To save yourself time, please go over these carefully before continuing. You will be asked for a signature to a statement of your understanding of and commitment to compliance with these items.
